MY DOMINANT SIDE:

While I often show my submissive side... the truth is,
there's another part of me.

The part that likes to take control. To give the orders. To watch someone tremble with anticipation as they follow every word I say.
Yes - I have a dominant side too.

And when she comes out... she's merciless, creative, and damn effective.
I've kept every task that gave me that thrill down my spine - that little sadistic "yes, that's the one."

I didn't choose them alone. My partner helped. We went through each one together, read them slowly, imagined them... and picked the ones that were the most intense, dirty, and undeniably hot.

So here they are -
The tasks that stay with you long after they're over.
No matter which end of the leash you're on.

MY DOMINANT SIDE:

1. He forgot. One simple rule. No speaking unless I ask you a direct question. He apologized, of course. Whispered "I'm sorry, Mistress" before he even realized what he'd done.

I didn't yell. I didn't punish him on the spot. I just looked at him and said one word:

"Strip."

He obeyed. Quietly. Nervously.

I pointed to the corner and said, "Kneel. Back straight. Hands behind your head. Eyes forward. You will stay there in complete silence for the next hour."

Then I went about my evening. I cooked. I watched a show. I answered emails. He stayed still. He watched the second hand tick on the clock in front of him. His body ached. His cock hardened. But he didn't move.

Every now and then, I passed behind him, close enough to make him flinch—but never touched. Never spoke. Just let him sit in his guilt, his ache, his need.

When the hour was up, I walked over. Looked down at him. And said softly:

"Now open your mouth. You'll earn forgiveness with your tongue."

MY DOMINANT SIDE:

◯ 2. He was already on his knees when I entered the room. I didn't say a word—just sat down in the armchair and crossed my legs slowly, deliberately. Bare feet. Red toenails. Just how he liked them. Just how I made him like them.

His eyes dropped to them immediately, hungry and reverent. But I made him wait. I scrolled through my phone, sipping wine, ignoring him completely. After ten minutes of silence, I finally spoke:

"You may begin."

He crawled forward and kissed the top of each foot like it was sacred. I leaned back, enjoying every second. He licked slowly, carefully, his tongue tracing the arch, the heel, the base of my toes.

"Use your mouth like you mean it," I said. "I want them worshipped, not cleaned."

He moaned—pathetic and desperate. I could feel his arousal growing between his legs, untouched. Of course, he wasn't allowed to touch himself. Not during this. This wasn't about him.

I pressed the ball of my foot to his cheek and whispered:

"Now beg to cum just from my feet. And if you fail... you'll get to taste them again. Only after I've walked barefoot through the garden."

MY DOMINANT SIDE:

◯3. He looked perfect—naked, tied to the bed, wrists and ankles secured tightly to the corners. No movement. No control. Nothing but mine.
I put a ball gag. Red. Tight in his mouth, muffling every sound he tried to make. All I could hear were his needy moans, low and desperate.
I straddled his chest, looking straight into his eyes. He whimpered through the gag. He knew what was coming—and he was already begging for it.
Slowly, I slid forward—over his ribs, up his torso, until my thighs framed his face.

And then I started grinding on his gag.

My pussy pressed against the rubber, wet and hot, teasing him with every slow, deliberate motion. He tried to move his tongue, tried to reach me, taste me—but he couldn't.
He was just there—helpless, aching, humiliated.

"You want it so badly, don't you?" I whispered. "You want to taste all of me."

He nodded frantically, eyes wide with craving, drool dripping from the corners of his gagged mouth.
I laughed, cruel and soft. "Too bad."
I kept riding his face, using him for my pleasure—while he could do nothing but moan, struggle, and beg with his eyes.
Because this wasn't about what he wanted. It never is.

MY DOMINANT SIDE:

○ 4. He had earned a punishment. I made that clear.
But when I told him to strip, he looked nervous. When I brought out the plastic wrap, his face shifted from confused to panicked.
I didn't explain. I didn't need to.
I started at his ankles, wrapping tightly-layer after layer, up his legs, over his hips, across his chest. Arms down by his sides, completely sealed in.
Breathless. Helpless. Contained.
By the time I reached his shoulders, he couldn't move an inch. His cock, however, was free - and hard. So beautifully hard. I strapped a ball gag into his mouth and set a timer on my phone. Then I knelt between his legs.
And I began.
I sucked him slowly at first - deep, wet strokes. I licked under the head, teased him with my tongue, let my lips stretch around his shaft until he moaned into the gag.
He thought this was a reward. Poor thing.
I took him all the way to the back of my throat, again and again, until he came with a muffled cry. My phone stopped the moment his orgasm did.
4 minutes. 17 seconds.
I waited. Watched the cum drip and trail down his skin. And then I reset the timer.
"Now," I whispered, climbing back up, "let's see how much pain 4:17 really feels like."
I didn't need tools - just nails, sharp teeth, long squeezes around his aching, twitching cock. I bit. I slapped. I pulled.
Somewhere near the end, I thought I heard a safe word - but it was too soft, buried under the gag and the plastic.
I smiled, leaned in, and whispered into his ear:
"Next time, think twice before you come without permission."

MY DOMINANT SIDE:

◯ 5. I love reducing him to nothing but a tool.
So when I told him to kneel and open wide, he didn't hesitate. That was his mistake.
I strapped the gag in place—tight behind his head. A thick, silicone cock extending from his mouth, stiff and ready. Outward-facing. Utterly useless... except for my pleasure.
He tried to look at me, but I grabbed his chin and tilted it up. "You don't need to see," I said. "You're not him right now. You're just this."
I climbed over him, one knee on the chair behind, the other pressed to his shoulder. And then I lowered myself onto the toy—his face gag.
My thighs squeezed around his head as I sank onto it, slowly grinding, fucking myself on the cock strapped into his mouth.
He moaned beneath me. A helpless sound. I knew he was hard. I knew he wanted to touch me, feel me, taste me. But he couldn't.
All he could do was kneel, wrists tied behind his back, and let me use the plastic cock sticking out of his mouth.
"You want to be useful?" I said breathlessly. "Then shut up and take it like a good little object."
I rode it harder. Faster. Until I came—moaning, trembling, pressing down so hard I knew his knees had to be aching.
And when I was done, I stood over him, wiped myself on his face, and whispered:
"If you're lucky, next time I'll ride the real one. But only if you learn how to serve without needing to feel."

◯ 6. I told him just to wait by the door. On his knees. Naked.
I came back from the gym—sweaty, flushed, adrenaline still buzzing in my veins. I dropped my gym bag loudly, just to make him flinch. He knew, without a word, co go dziś czeka.
I peeled off my leggings slowly, teasingly. No rush. Letting the scent of effort and domination fill the room.
"Crawl," I said.
He came forward on all fours, eyes already locked on my shoes—worn, warm, damp with effort. I stepped out of them and placed one socked foot against his chest, gently pushing him onto his back.
"Smell me," I whispered. "You want devotion? Start here."
He obeyed, inhaling deeply from my socks, moaning softly like a starving man. I let him worship them with his mouth, his tongue, his face. I rubbed one against his lips, then slid the other across his neck.
Then I stepped out of the socks, bare feet sweaty and sensitive. I climbed onto him, planted my foot on his face, and pressed down just enough.
"Now, without your hands, show me what you've learned about pleasure. And maybe—just maybe—I'll let you clean my sweaty pussy next... with your mouth."

MY DOMINANT SIDE:

○ 7. He came without permission. Again.
And he thought I'd be angry. Thought I'd punish him the way I usually do—denial, discipline, silence. But this time, I smiled.
"No punishment today," I said. "You're going to celebrate your mistake."
I tied him to the chair—arms behind the backrest, legs spread wide, cock already soft and messy. His own cum glistening down his shaft.
Then I dipped two fingers into the warm mess, lifted them to his lips, and said quietly, "Open."
He hesitated. Just for a moment. And that hesitation cost him. I grabbed his jaw, squeezed just enough to open it. "You don't hesitate with your Domme. You thank me for letting you make a mess."
I wiped the cum across his lips, slowly, deliberately, and whispered, "Now clean it."
He sucked my fingers like a starving pet. I didn't let him stop until every drop was gone. Then I scooped up more—from his stomach, from his cock, from my hand. Over and over.
When he was finally clean from his own release—mouth, chin, dick —I stood in front of him, arms crossed, admiring my work.
"Tell me what you are," I said.
He looked up, flushed, shaking, and whispered, "I'm your dirty little cum toy." "Good," I smiled. "Now beg me for a possibility to prove it. And if you beg well enough... I might even let you earn more."

MY DOMINANT SIDE:

◯ 8. He thought this would just be coffee. Silly boy.
I chose the café for a reason— tables with long linen covers, crowded just enough and Perfect for what I had in mind.
He sat across from me, trying to stay composed, sipping his coffee while his legs trembled under the table. Because my foot was already between his thighs. Barely touching. Just brushing along the inside of his leg. Letting my toes trace a line up and down—closer, closer, then pulling away.
I watched his face. The way his jaw tensed, the way his pupils dilated when my toes pressed against his hardening cock through his pants.
I didn't say a word. Just smiled sweetly, sipped my drink, and pressed firmer.
He squirmed. I raised an eyebrow. He froze.
"Control yourself," I whispered, "or you'll cum in your trousers like a pathetic little mess in public."
When we got home, I didn't even let him speak.
"On your knees. Now."
I stood in front of him in my stilettos—black patent leather, sharp, glossy, merciless.
I sat on a chair and I lifted one foot and rested it on his thigh, slowly dragging the sole up toward his cock. Then I pressed the toe of my shoe against him—hard. He whimpered.
"You're going to cum for me," I said, "right here, on my fucking shoe. And then you're going to thank me with your tongue."
I stroked his dick with my heel until he was shaking. His penis was between my heels, and I moved my legs up and down- slow, dirty, perfect pressure.
He came hard—right across of my stiletto, breathless and desperate.
I lifted my foot slowly, holding it at mouth level. "Clean it. Every drop."
He obeyed—licking my high heels, tongue tracing over his own cum, swallowing it.
"That," I whispered, "is what it means to be mine."

MY DOMINANT SIDE:

○ 9. He thought he was in control when he handed me his card.
He called it a "gift." I called it the beginning.
I didn't even thank him. I just turned around, walked into the store, and left him standing outside like the obedient little paypig he was.
I bought lingerie—red silk, just tight enough to remind him what he could never touch. He stared at the bags in my hands like they were sacred. I smiled. "Don't worry, you'll get to see it... when I'm wearing it for someone who actually deserves me."
His breath caught. He didn't speak. He knew better.
Back at home, I made him kneel in front of me while I checked my shopping list. "Your card is almost maxed," I said, amused. "We should fix that next paycheck, don't you think?"
He nodded. "Yes, Mistress."
I sat down, legs crossed, shoe tapping against his thigh. "Tell me your balance."
He hesitated. I raised an eyebrow. One second of silence too long.
"Okay," I said. "Strip. On your back. You're going to jerk off for me while reading your last bank statement aloud."
He turned crimson, but obeyed. Laying there, cock in one hand, trembling voice in the other—"Transaction: 219.90, Mistress' lingerie. 112.50, heels. 37.00, Uber to her apartment..."
He came pathetically fast, spilling across his own stomach.
I leaned over, took the receipt from my purse, and laid it across his chest—soaked and sticky.
"This," I said, "is what your worth looks like. And if you ever want me to ruin your savings again..."
I stepped on his chest with the heel he bought me. "Beg for it."

MY DOMINANT SIDE:

◯ 10. He spent the whole day barking orders.
“Nurse, fluff my pillow.”
“Nurse, bring me water—now.”
“Nurse, don’t just stand there. Do something useful.”
I smiled. Professional. Patient. Polite. Just like a good nurse should be.
But I didn’t forget.
And that night, while he slept peacefully in his little hospital bed, I got to work.
Soft restraints first—quiet, precise. One wrist, then the other. Ankles spread wide. Tight enough to hold, loose enough not to wake him too soon.
Then the gag. Just in case. Can’t have a loud patient disturbing the ward.
By the time he stirred, the lights were dim, the room quiet, and I was standing over him in my uniform—latex gloves on, metal tray in hand.
Sounding rods. Sterilized. Lined up. Gleaming.
“You’ve been very rude to your nurse,” I said softly, leaning in close.
“And now it’s time for your... treatment.”
His eyes widened. He shook his head, muffled protest already forming behind the gag. But I only smiled and pushed the thin, cold rod slowly against his slit.
He writhed—but couldn’t move. I was meticulous. Cruel. Silent.
I inserted it millimeter by millimeter, letting him feel every inch. Then pulled it out slowly, only to choose a thicker one. And another.
“Your chart says you like being in control,” I whispered. “Let’s adjust that diagnosis.”
His cock twitched, his moans muffled, his eyes pleading. But I didn’t stop.
I wasn’t angry—I was focused. This was discipline, not emotion.
By the time I was done, he was soaked in sweat. I stood at the edge of the bed, arms crossed.
“From now on, you’ll say ‘thank you, Nurse’ before every request. Or next time... we skip the lube.”

MY DOMINANT SIDE:

◯ 11. “You're late. Again.”
I stood in the doorway of his tiny studio apartment, arms crossed, heels echoing across the floor. He looked up from his desk—wide-eyed, nervous. No words. Just guilt. Good.
“Third month in a row,” I said. “And still no payment. No excuses. So here’s what’s going to happen.”
I stepped inside, shutting the door behind me with a quiet click. The sound made him flinch.
“Since you clearly can’t afford to pay with money…” I let the silence stretch, the weight of it crushing him, “…you’ll pay with obedience.”
He swallowed hard.
“Strip.”
He hesitated for one second too long, so I added—“That wasn’t a request. You owe me. This is debt collection.”
I watched as he slowly undressed, clumsy, embarrassed, completely exposed.
When he stood naked in front of me, I walked around him like inspecting damaged goods. I tugged at his chin. Lifted his cock with the tip of my shoe.
“Pathetic. But I’m in a generous mood.”
I shoved him onto the couch and pulled a leather strap from my bag. In moments, his wrists were bound behind his back, his legs spread apart, ankles restrained. No escape.
“You don’t cum until I say. You don’t moan unless I allow it. And you definitely don’t make eye contact with your landlady.”
I sat on the chair in front of him and spread my legs. He saw that I was not wearing underwear under my skirt
Then I leaned in close, lips brushing his ear.
“If you want to stay here rent-free, you’ll earn every night on your knees.”
“Welcome to your new lease agreement.”

MY DOMINANT SIDE:

◯ 12. He had no idea how I got in.

One moment he was walking into his hotel suite. The next? The door clicked shut behind him—and I stepped out from the shadows. Calm. Smiling.

"You're even more beautiful in person."

He froze. Of course he did. The world's most adored pop star. Perfect jawline, perfect body. Untouchable.

But not anymore.

I held up his room key with a little wink. "Stole it from housekeeping. Hope you don't mind."

He tried to speak. I pressed a finger to his lips.

"Shh. You talk enough on stage. Now it's my turn."

I pushed him gently, but firmly, onto the velvet sofa. He was still wearing that expensive leather jacket. I climbed onto his lap, straddling him—legs tight around his waist.

He didn't dare touch me. Smart boy.

"You don't know me. But I know everything about you. Your birthday. Your favorite wine. Your safe word."

"That's right. I read everything."

I pulled a silk scarf from my bag—worn, slightly scented—and tied it tight around his wrists. No resistance. Just stunned silence.

He wasn't used to being the one worshipped and owned. But he was learning fast.

"You always say you love your fans."

I leaned in. "So show me."

I reached into my bag. Pulled out a marker. Wrote three little words on his chest, just above his racing heart:

"PROPERTY OF GABRIELLA." And then I quickly took some pictures of him with my smartphone.

"Now," I whispered, "if you want to stay famous.... you'll do what I've always fantasized about," and then I sat on his face.

MY DOMINANT SIDE:

◯ 13. I told him he wasn't allowed to touch himself without permission ever again. And tonight, I made sure of it.

He was bound—tightly. Wrists behind his back, elbows locked. Ankles secured apart, knees slightly bent, just enough to make balance a challenge. His cock? Fully exposed, already leaking from the tension I'd built up for days.

I walked into the room slowly, heels clicking. In front of him stood the table—plain, wooden, functional. Its edge sharp, unpolished. Just perfect.

"You want to cum?" I asked. "Then work for it."

He looked at me, confused, hopeful. That hope died quickly when I pointed to the edge of the table.

"Grind on it," I said. "No hands. No help. No softness."

"You'll cum like the filthy creature you are—humping furniture."

He hesitated, cheeks flushed red from shame. I stepped closer, grabbed his hair, and hissed:

"Now."

He obeyed—slowly, awkwardly at first—pressing the underside of his cock against the edge of the table, hips moving in short, pathetic thrusts.

The wood was unforgiving. Every stroke scraped his skin. No pleasure, only need. No softness, only ache. And I watched.

"Faster," I ordered. "I want you to moan like a bitch in heat. I want to see you cum without being touched."

He cried out as his body betrayed him—grinding desperately, shamelessly.

When he finally came, it was messy and loud—his cum spilling down the edge of the table, dripping onto the floor.

I waited. Let the moment stretch. Let him tremble.

Then I grabbed him by the chin and forced him to look at the mess.

"Clean it," I said. "Table first. Then the floor. Use your mouth."

He whimpered behind the gag, humiliated beyond words.

"This is how you cum now," I whispered. "Not with hands. Not with pride. Just like a desperate, broken toy—grinding on furniture and licking up the shame."

MY DOMINANT SIDE:

◯ 14. He looked me in the eyes and said the dumbest thing a submissive can ever say to a sadist.
“Tonight... I won’t use my safe word. No matter what you do.”

I smiled.

“Is that so?”

There was silence for a moment—he thought it was confidence. But I could already feel the excitement rising in my chest. I stepped closer, pulled his chin up, and whispered:

“Challenge accepted.”

Minutes later, he was tied down—wrists and ankles secured, a blindfold over his eyes, and his body completely exposed. I circled him slowly, fingernails dragging over his skin. Light. Then harder.

Clothespins. Nipple clamps. A metal cane. Ice cubes. Hot wax.
Every sensation I could think of—I layered them one after the other, mixing pain with false relief, teasing with kindness and snapping it away without warning.

His body was twitching. Shaking. Sweating.

“You said no safe word tonight,” I whispered in his ear, “but let’s see if you can still stand by those words... when your cock and balls are the target.”

He tensed instantly—he knew what that meant.

I took my time. Wrapped cord around the base of his shaft. Tied it off just tight enough to make every pulse visible.
Then came the slaps. Not playful. Precise. Punishing.
I alternated between slow, open-palmed strikes and sharp, focused hits right to the underside.
When he moaned, I smiled.
When he flinched, I leaned in closer.
I knew he wanted to scream his safe word—but pride kept him silent.

So I upped the game.

I took a metal pinwheel to the shaft. Rolled it downward, slowly. Then again—up and down.
His head tossed back. His hands strained against the bindings. His entire body trembled.

"Still no safe word?" I asked, almost gently.
"Good. Because I'm just getting started."

By the time I was done, he was a wreck—broken, shaking, soaked in sweat and tears.
I leaned down, kissed his forehead softly, and whispered:

"Thank you for trusting me with your limits.
And thank you... for daring me to find them."

◯ 15. That night, I warned him.
“If I get turned on tonight… it’s going to be bad news for you.”
He smirked. Thought I was teasing.
He didn’t realize how serious I was—until it was far too late.
It didn’t take much, really. Just watching him kneel for me.
Hearing him whisper, “Mistress.”
The way his eyes begged for my attention.
I felt the heat rise between my thighs, slow and steady.
And I knew exactly what I was going to do next.
I stepped out of my panties. Still warm. Still soaked.
He looked up at me, confused—but not for long.
I grabbed him by the hair and shoved them into his mouth.
Not just placed—pushed.
Soaked fabric pressing into his tongue.
My arousal smeared across his lips. His teeth. His shame.
“This is your fault,” I said coldly. “You made me wet. Now taste it.”
He moaned—pathetic, muffled.
I took the roll of duct tape and sealed his mouth shut. Tight. Firm.
Then slipped the blindfold over his eyes.
No sight. No sound. Just heat. Humiliation. And my scent, soaking into every breath.
I sat back and watched him struggle, helpless, twitching—choked by his own arousing mistake.
And whispered softly from across the room:
“Next time… try not to please me so much. Unless you’re ready to swallow the consequences.”

16 “You don’t get to cum for pleasure anymore,”
I told him. “You cum when I make you. And you suffer for every drop.”
He was already tied to the bed—spread wide, cock hard and twitching, his body so responsive it almost betrayed him before I even touched him.
And that was perfect. That’s what I wanted.
I slid the vibrator over his shaft—barely a brush—and he was already gasping. Already begging.
“One orgasm,” I said. “And then we start.”
I edged him carefully, just enough to tip him into release.
He came hard—loud, shaking, chest heaving.
I didn’t stop.
He looked at me in shock—wide-eyed, helpless. I kept the vibrator pressed to his oversensitive cock, moving it in tight, fast circles.
He screamed. Tried to pull away. He couldn’t.
His body convulsed. His voice cracked.
“Two.”
By now he was whimpering, twitching, begging with his eyes.
Every orgasm tore a bit more of him away.
No rest. No softness. Just endless stimulation, until pleasure became pain, and pain became obedience.
His cock was red, raw, leaking. His legs trembled.
“You don’t cum for joy anymore. You cum because I own you.”
And I kept going.
Because his safeword was silence.
And silence… was no longer an option.

MY DOMINANT SIDE:

◯ 17. I could tell he was aching.
He always is, after a few days in the cage.
Every twitch of his cock against the metal is useless. Beautiful.
And exactly what I want to see.
I stood over him, dressed in black lace, heels pressing into the floor with purpose.
He knelt—naked, caged, hands behind his back, eyes low.
-"How long has it been?" I asked.
- "Nine days, Mistress."
- "And how many orgasms?"
- "None, Mistress."
- "Good boy."
I stepped closer. Let my foot rest against his thigh. Then dragged it slowly up—just until the pointed toe pressed against the edge of the chastity cage.
He flinched.
Tried not to. But I saw it.
I knelt in front of him. Lifted his chin with one finger.
"You're dripping," I whispered. "And I haven't even touched you."
I unlocked the cage slowly. The click of the key was louder than his breath.
His cock twitched the moment it was free—but it didn't get far.
I tied a soft ribbon around the base. Just to remind him it wasn't his.
And then I kissed his neck. Stroked his chest. Slid my hand down—just once—before caging him again.
Still aching. Still denied.
"You don't get to cum just because you've been good," I said, snapping the lock back into place.
"You get to hope."
He whimpered.
I dangled the key in front of his face, then slid it down into my bra.
"Earn it. Or stay locked. It's that simple."

MY DOMINANT SIDE:

◯ 18.“You have exactly 10 seconds to cum.”
He blinked, confused. I smiled.
“Not 9. Not 11. Exactly when the timer hits zero. Think of it like one of those carnival games—you know the kind.” “Impossible to win. But fun to watch you fail.” I strapped him down tight—wrists, ankles, thighs spread open, cock exposed, throbbing, leaking.
He was gagged, blindfolded, and already trembling.
I started the timer.
Ten. - I slid my palm slowly over his shaft, just once, deliberately light.
Nine. - A deep stroke now. Just enough to make his hips twitch.
Eight. Seven. Six. - I leaned in. Let my breath tease his skin, my tongue flick over the head. His breathing grew ragged. His thighs flexed.
Five. Four. - I whispered, “Get ready.” He moaned behind the gag.
Three. Two. - I gripped him tight, full stroke—rough, perfect, just enough.
One.
Zero.
He came… Too fast. Right between two and one. So close. So wrong.
I didn’t stop. I didn't even let him exhale.
The moment he came, I kept stroking—merciless, relentless.
His scream behind the gag was everything.
“Oh no,” I cooed. “Too early.”
“And you know what that means.”
I set a new timer.
“Four minutes. Post-orgasm torture. No breaks. No mercy.”
He thrashed. Cried. Shook.
And I just smiled.
Because he thought he could win.
But no one wins my games.
Only I do.

MY DOMINANT SIDE:

◯ 19. He was already shaking before I even put the strap-on on.
Naked. Lubed. Bent over the edge of the bed, wrists bound to the frame, knees spread wide. His cock was hard—of course it was.
He begged for this for weeks. Said he was ready.
But I don't just fuck. I conquer.
I stood behind him, running the tip of the strap-on between his cheeks—slowly, deliberately. Not pressing in yet, just reminding him that this was mine now.
He moaned at the first touch.
"So sensitive already?" I whispered. "We haven't even started."
I pushed in—inch by inch.
No rush.
Just steady, claiming pressure.
He gasped. Tensed. Then melted.
I grabbed his hips, pulled him back into me, and began to thrust—deep, slow strokes that made his knees buckle.
He moaned into the sheets, helpless, filled.
Every sound he made just turned me on more.
"This isn't about your pleasure," I said through gritted teeth. "It's about my power."
I reached around and stroked his cock once—just once—and he almost lost it.
So I stopped.
"No," I said. "You don't get to cum until I've fucked the fight out of you."
I pegged him harder now, faster. The slap of skin against skin, the sounds he made, the way his body trembled with every deep thrust—it was perfect.
I could feel him unraveling.
Becoming mine.
And when I finally allowed him to cum—hands still tied, body wrecked, voice broken—I pulled out, ran the tip of the strap-on across his cheek, and whispered:
"Next time, you'll ask to be used. Tonight? You earned it."
